

Omid Aghdami
Director

Omid's first passionate ambition was music.

Right after school he started his studies in Sound Design (B.A.) in Cologne while touring around Germany with various bands and projects.

In 2012 he decided to move to Hamburg where he started in a film production company mainly to get in touch with film music composers and sound artists. Working as a production assistant he got involved into various tv commercial productions and was fascinated by the craft and process of film making.

One day on set the producer handed him a Canon 5D camera with the words „just go and shoot something“. It was this very first experience with a camera that inflamed his passion and love for the craft.

In 2014, he joined the production company THE|MARMALADE as a production assistant. Soon his creativity and passion forced him into becoming a director and founding a new division called JAMSESSION.TV.

He soon became part of the THE|MARMALADE directors roster and directed various commercials for brands like Montblanc, BMW, Grohe, Lamborghini, Marc Cain, Conleys, Unilever, P&G and many more.

Driven by his passion for creating unique visual storytelling that combines fashion, lifestyle and beauty elements with a sense of abstract poetic-melancholia, he puts his love and devotion into every single project he makes.

Since 2019 Omid is working worldwide as a freelance director and photographer.
