Jakob Reinhardt

Jakob loves working on visually rich documentaries, creative fiction, and everything in between, telling stories that range from features to commercials.

Based in Berlin, he studied photography, worked as a gaffer, and studied cinematography at the Film University Babelsberg. His work as a cinematographer has been featured in numerous festivals worldwide, earning multiple awards, including the German Camera Prize, two Lolas for the German Short Film Award, and a nomination for the 95th Student Oscars.

In his work, he combines technical and creative aspects, viewing limitations as opportunities to focus on the essence of a story. He aims to empower the crew and talent, ensuring they can showcase their confidence and strength whenever they step in front of the camera.
